

Specialists in Stainless Steel

CHRIS JENSEN K/S
KALUNDBORG

With more than 30 years of experience working with stainless steel, and with highly trained staff, Chris Jensen solves all kinds of special assignments.

Tailor-made solutions

Our solutions are developed in collaboration with the client, and completely according to the customer's own specifications and requests. Manufacturing as well as mounting primarily takes place within the company, but furthermore we cooperate with several other specialists, such as, electrical contractors, insulators and engineers.

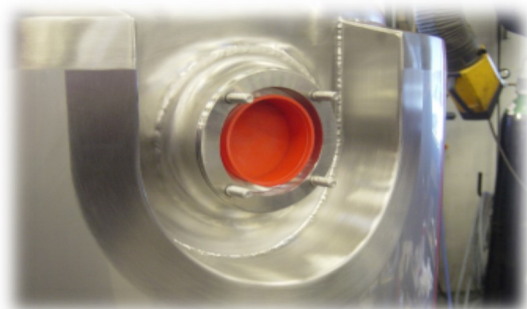

Supervision

Besides production of incoming orders, we do total mounting of factories in collaboration with the client and engineering consulting companies. Our supervisors and smiths have extensive know-how, and works often as the customer's external coordinator, with direct reporting to project-managers. Furthermore, we secure that our department of quality, submits a final documentation of high quality .
